

Should we have a Destination Wedding?

Are you asking yourself this question?

Some Fantastic Reasons WHY to have a Destination Wedding

Reason #1

You can say "I do" anywhere! A destination wedding is defined as marrying at least 100 miles from where the bride currently lives. Imagine the options that definition opens up for you.. the world really becomes your playground.

Reason #2

Do you want your wedding to be different from the pack? Wed away, and you won't have to choose from the same old hometown spots all your friends have booked.

Reason #3

It's easier. With a trusting travel agent, whether the event is for two or 200, Peggy Wood Events & Travel can put together all the travel details and communicate with the destination wedding planner. We also specialize in an abundance of packages to keep things simple while giving options to customize.

Reason #4

You can save on décor. With a destination wedding in a stunning setting, your location of choice supplies the theme, from castle fairytale, to sea-inspired soiree. And when you choose an amazing backdrop, it doesn't take much to dress it up. Opt for a pristine beach, a tidy vineyard, a blooming garden, or a historic plantation house furnished with graceful antiques, and you'll be more than covered with a few simple florals and other modest accents.

Reason #5

Enjoy quality time with loved ones. The standard wedding lasts for five hours, and the bride and groom spend most of their time running from table to table, trying to say hello to everyone. A destination I DO spans a minimum of three days – which means, now that you've finally gotten your nearest and dearest together, you can actually spend quality time with them!

Reason #6

It's a great excuse to limit the guest list. The very nature of destination weddings—they require travel, a longer time commitment and hotel stays—gives you the perfect excuse to cut down on an often unmanageable number of invitees. Think the second cousins and office mates will be miffed? You can always throw a post wedding party – complete with plenty of photos – when you get back home.

Reason #7

Guests can save on a vacation. Peggy Wood Events & Travel can find you discount room and air rates for your guests. And ultimately, your friends will have a blast! Destination weddings give friends and family that most valuable commodity: downtime—to kick back, connect and celebrate. What could be more fun than that?

Reason #8

You'll share a locale you love. Part of the joy of a destination wedding is showing off a place that has special meaning to you, be it bringing friends and family back to a beloved college campus, sharing where you took your first vacation as a couple or finally going somewhere you've always dreamed of going.

Reason #9

Flexible timing helps with budgeting. You'll be at your destination for a few days. Peggy Wood Events & Travel will work with your vendors to see how timing can trim costs. After all, if everyone is already there, you can wed on a Friday, a Sunday or even a Tuesday – what does the day of the week matter in paradise? When you book seasonably, it will also affect the rates.

Reason #10

You can start the honeymoon early. Just arriving at your destination is sure to put you in a relaxed mood as the pre-wedding festivities begin. Many hotels offer automatic upgrades to the bride and groom on their wedding night, and Peggy Wood Events & Travel always negotiates an extended mini-moon at a reduced rate after the guests have gone home.
